

Doctoral Schools group recognized research teams around a training project.

They offer students:

- Trainings useful to the running of their research project and the elaboration of their professional project,
- European and international exposure,
- A follow-up of their professional insertion.